EXPERIENCE

Senior Software Engineer

Glue Labs

📅 2019 - Present   📍 New Delhi, India

Glue Labs is a client and service based startup with a rapid pace development and innovative solutions for demanding projects. I work as a software engineer here, responsible for building and maintaining the web applications.

- Hired, trained and lead an Agile team of 14+ developers in the FIFO and Glue web applications.
- Enhanced Frontend performance by utilising list virtualisation and route-based code splitting to reduce render times, optimising site performance and user load times.
- Led development of key features including authentication, posts, comments, replies, pagination, search, infinite loading, and chat, resulting in the increase in user engagement.
- Single-handedly migrated the frontend from React to Next.js, improving code maintainability and scalability, SEO, and significantly reducing the build times by 30%.
- Engineered features for 3+ products with Next.js and Nest.js, streamlining product management across departments and boosting operational efficiency.
- Designed and developed reusable UI components using React class components and higher-order components, enhancing code reusability in their product called Simpler: Consumer Finance Panel used by the finance team in Cars24.
- Developed and integrated APIs for Cars24 using Redux for state management, and implemented Redux Thunk for efficient asynchronous data fetching.
